

Hello Mr. Hall,

I have had my cellerciser for just under 4 weeks and, I love it!

I feel better already, I have been lifting weights for 14 months and, due to a crushed sciatic nerve, I have had little progress in my legs, especially my calves.

With the cellerciser, I am already seeing and feeling new growth, it is amazing!

Doing cardio type workouts has never been enjoyable since my back injury, first in 79' then another in 88' but, keeping my hands high, gets my heart, lungs and everything going, as you know.

I have high hopes that this will "wake up" my crushed but not severed nerve, I'm getting a lot of sensation now, although temporary.

I'm telling everyone I know to give it a try!! Thanks so much, John N. [REDACTED]
