If I could only have one piece of exercise equipment, hands down it would be the Celleciser.

I have been a Doctor of Chiropractic for almost 40 years and have been in the Health and Fitness field most of my life. I initially started using mini trampolines many years ago but after wearing out three of them I did some research and found the Celleciser. What a revelation!

Nothing like the "Big 5" versions, foldable, pliant and well made. I have had mine approximately 10 years and just recently needed to replace the mat.

I taught high impact aerobics in my 20s and developed a degenerative hip. The low impact exercise with the Celleciser was ideal and also the perfect rehab equipment after recovering from a hip replacement seven years ago. I have recommended the Celleciser to family, friends and patients for many years. All have been happy with their purchase. Get a Cellerciser, you'll be happy you did.
